

Section 252(d) of EPCA and section 9(a) of the Voluntary Agreement require the Department's approval before the proposed amendments can be adopted. Those sections preclude the Department from approving the amendments until it receives the advice of the Federal Trade Commission. On July 21, 1998, the Federal Trade Commission informed the Department that it had no objection to the Department's approval of the proposed amendments.

As you note in your letter, the Department participated in the development of the proposed amendments. Our role has been to ensure that the Voluntary Agreement cannot be used by participating oil companies to collude on prices. The Voluntary Agreement and the proposed amendments provide the necessary assurances to permit the Voluntary Agreement participants to proceed with planned meetings and begin assisting the IEA in the development of a coordinated drawdown plan. The Department hereby approves the proposed amendments. Division staff will participate with the FTC in the development of additional amendments, as needed.

The Department will not adopt the proposed amendments until twenty days after you publish a notice of our intention to adopt them. This procedure is in accordance with Section 11(b) of the Voluntary Agreement.

(5) Letter of the Chairman, Federal Trade Commission, to the Assistant Attorney General of the Antitrust Division, dated July 21, 1998:

The Department of Energy recently requested that you approve the attached amendments to the Voluntary Agreement and Plan of Action to Implement the International Energy Program ("Voluntary Agreement"). The Voluntary Agreement requires that the Commission consult with you before your approval.

The proposed amendments to the Voluntary Agreement implement changes recently enacted by Public Law 105-177 to Section 252 of the Energy Policy and Conservation Act. The Administration sought the changes to Section 252 to enable U.S. oil companies to advise the International Energy Agency ("IEA") on the coordinated drawdown of government-owned or government-controlled oil stocks.

The Commission has no objection to your approving the proposed amendments. We note, however, that the proposed amendments do not contain details of how U.S. oil companies will interact with each other and with the IEA in fulfilling the goal of the recently amended legislation. Our staff has informed us that these details will be developed during industry meetings this fall and will be incorporated in future amendments to the Voluntary Agreement.

By direction of the Commission.

(6) Letter of the Acting Assistant Secretary of State for Economic and Business Affairs to the General Counsel of the Department of Energy, dated July 24, 1998:

I am responding to your July 7 letter requesting comments on proposed amendments to the "Voluntary Agreement and Plan of Action to Implement the International Energy Program."

The Department of State supports the proposed amendments to the Voluntary Agreement. We believe the amendments to implement the recently enacted changes to the Energy Policy and Conservation Act should facilitate U.S. oil company participation in the International Energy Agency's oil crisis emergency response activities. Thank you for the opportunity to review the proposed amendments.

cc: The Honorable Joel I. Klein, Assistant Attorney General of the Antitrust Division.
The Honorable Robert Pitofsky, Chairman,
Federal Trade Commission
